

WORKPLACE VOLUNTEER COUNCIL

Promoting & Fostering Employee Volunteerism

Workplace Volunteer Council (WVC) builds a stronger community, where companies collaborate to promote and foster a culture of employee volunteerism. By connecting social-minded companies, WVC helps establish, grow, and sustain successful workplace volunteer programs.

The Council hosts quarterly meetings and coordinates employee volunteer projects. Council members have the opportunity to network with peers, learn from other companies, share best practices, create corporate visibility, and forge relationships in the community.

What are the benefits of joining WVC?

- Educational programs that provide tools and resources to enhance new and well-established employee volunteer programs
- Opportunities to network with peers
- Best practices, ideas, and successful program sharing with other corporate volunteer program leaders
- Greater community awareness and recognition of your company's commitment to volunteering
- Heightened awareness of current community issues
- Corporate social responsibility goal alignment

How can I become a WVC member?

Annual Membership is $125 per company. Up to five representatives can participate in quarterly meetings. WVC companies have access to tools and resources to enhance new and well-established employee volunteer programs. By strengthening employee volunteer programs, United Way and WVC help build a stronger, healthier, and more vibrant community.
